

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A powder applicator includes a reservoir for powder and a porous membrane tensioned over the reservoir. A portion of the powder is stored in the vicinity of the membrane, in a very open synthetic foam pad between the reservoir
5 and the membrane and communicating with the reservoir.